SCHOLARSHIP DESCRIPTIONS

Core Values Scholar Program

This program seeks to recognize bright, motivated students who demonstrate qualities that will add meaning and vitality to Derryfield's Core Values. Grants are in the amount of $16,000.

Number of Core Values Scholars: Up to three each year

Eligibility: All new students applying to Derryfield are eligible.

DIRECTIONS

The Derryfield School Merit Scholarship Program provides grants for new students based on a student's academic and extracurricular talents, as well as his or her responses to essay questions. Applicants must complete both the admission and merit applications by January 15 to be considered. Your essay should be handwritten or typed on a separate sheet of paper (minimum of 250-word response). Please include your name on the essay.

CORE VALUES SCHOLAR ESSAY QUESTION

Describe a personal accomplishment, quality, or experience where you were at your best. What about this accomplishment, quality, or experience makes you proud? (If using the Core Values helps you to articulate your experience, you may incorporate them.)

OR

Describe a personal experience where you were a purposeful member of a community. What about this experience made you proud? (If using the Core Values helps to articulate your experience, you may incorporate them.)

CORE VALUES

Aim High: Young people achieve their best in a culture of high expectations and encouragement.

Balance: We offer inspiring academic, artistic, and athletic opportunities, promoting the development of healthy habits of mind, body, and spirit, and the skills to balance creative tension.

Caring: We are a community of individuals who care for one another. We demonstrate this through kindness and nurturing relationships among all members of the Derryfield family.

Character: We actively cultivate respect, integrity, compassion, and perseverance in our community members.

Community: We seek a diverse community defined and sustained by close relationships, social interdependence, and service.

Families: We embrace the family's role in the life of our day school, celebrating collaboration between home and school.

Individuality: We encourage young people to grow as unique individuals through the discovery of new passions and a love for learning.
